~ Voting in Minnesota ~

Foreign-born Germans and the Election of 1860

In 1860, Minnesota had the most liberal law for enfranchisement of immigrants of all Midwestern states, allowing foreign-born residents to vote four months after applying for citizenship.

Garnering the immigrant vote — especially the German vote — would be crucial for both major political parties. According to the 1860 U.S. Census, the foreign-born German population in Minnesota was 23,309 or 15.8 percent of the population. In that year, the state's white population totaled 169,395, and the number of eligible voters (males over age 20) was 38, 183. This meant that one in seven voters was a foreign-born German.

When the votes of the 1860 election were counted, Minnesota had returned four electoral votes for the Republican candidate Lincoln. The results showed 22,069 votes for Abraham Lincoln and 11,920 for Stephen Douglas. While impossible to precisely determine how the German population voted, where data is available and where the Germans amounted to more than one-half the population, they overwhelmingly supported Lincoln.

~ Voting in Minnesota ~

When did Minnesota start offering voter registration in the polling place on Election Day?

In 1974, the same year Minnesota began requiring all eligible voters to register to vote. Prior to 1974, registration was not a statewide requirement.

Who was the secretary of state when same-day registration was adopted and first used?

Arlen Erdahl, Republican secretary of state, who served 1971–1975.

How many Minnesotans use same-day registration in a typical presidential election year?

Typically, more than one-half million voters. Most recently in 2012, nearly 528,000 voters used same-day registration. The highest number recorded was 581,904 on Election Day in 2004.

What percentage of registered Minnesota voters has used same-day registration one or more times?

Sixty-one percent of registered voters have used same-day registration.

Election Returns at the Bijou Theater 1892

Early in the 20th century, Minnesota's economy was evolving from one based on subsistence production to one in which there was discretionary income. An innovator who understood and capitalized on this economic trend was Theodore L. Hays, owner of the Bijou Theater in Minneapolis.

Hays recognized that local interest in politics greatly increased after the 1892 Republican National Convention was held in Minneapolis. Hays, who had always had an interest in politics, understood the public could be drawn to his theaters for political events and decided to provide election-night results.

In 1892, Hays advertised that he would keep the Bijou open until midnight on election night to provide the public with the most up-to-the-minute returns. To provide this service, he worked with the North American Telegraph Company to install the necessary wire to the Bijou Theater. The wire would provide national election results, and the county auditor and city clerk would provide local results. The Minneapolis Tribune and Times reporters also would be on hand to update patrons with new election information.

The election night coverage proved to be a successful endeavor, and the event continued and grew in subsequent years. Delivery of election reporting evolved with technology. By 1910, results were being delivered by Western Union, long-distance telephone service, special messenger and reporters.

How does same-day registration affect voter turnout?

Minnesota leads the nation in voter participation and has consistently done so since implementing same-day registration. Same-day registration allows hundreds of thousands of Minnesotans who may have moved just prior to the election or who need to update their registration to do so on Election Day.

In the 2012 presidential election, voter turnout in same-day voter registration states was 8 percent higher than states that did not have it. In the 2010 midterm elections, states with same-day voter registration had turnout rates 6 percent higher than in other states.

Thanks to this important safety net, Minnesota is consistently number-one in voter turnout.

STATE GENERAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 6, 2012

Vote For Constitutional Amendments

If a majority of all the electors voting at the election vote to ratify an amendment, it becomes part of the Constitution.

Proposed Constitutional Amendment 2

The following text is proposed to be added to the Minnesota Constitution, Article VII, Section 1 (a).

(b) All voters voting in person must present valid government-issued photographic identification before receiving a ballot. The state must issue photographic identification at no charge to an eligible voter who does not have a form of identification meeting the requirements of this section. A voter unable to present government-issued photographic identification must be permitted to submit a provisional ballot. A provisional ballot must only be counted if the voter certifies the provisional ballot in the manner provided by law.

(c) All voters, including those not voting in person, must be subject to substantially equivalent identity and eligibility verification prior to a ballot being cast or counted.

Ballot Question: Shall the Minnesota Constitution be amended to require all voters to present valid photo identification to vote and to require the state to provide free identification to eligible voters, effective July 1, 2013?

~ Voting in Minnesota ~

Are same-day registrants' eligibility to vote verified?

Yes, in multiple ways. On Election Day, same-day registrants must provide proof that they currently reside in the precinct and sign an oath that they are eligible. Their data is verified with the Department of Public Safety Division of Driver and Vehicle Services, Social Security Administration, and state Department of Corrections. Local election officials check to be sure that no one votes more than once and send a non-forwardable postcard to verify their addresses. If any of these checks indicate a problem, county election officials are required to forward the information to the county attorney for further investigation and possible prosecution for a felony-level offense.

Voting Instructions for New Citizens

Minnesota has always been a leader in providing its newest citizens with voting instructions. In the 1920s and '30s, for example, voting instructions were printed in multiple languages, including: Bohemian, Finnish, French, German, Norwegian, Polish, Russian and Swedish. Today, our newest citizens can find voting instructions available in Hmong, Russian, Somali, Spanish and Vietnamese. The example below is in Norwegian.
